The Wind Came - Acts 2:1-21

A woman named Alice tells about her nephew's 10-year-old son who came for a visit one hot, July weekend. "Look, Alice," he said as he ran over to where she was sitting. "I found a kite. Could we go outside and fly it?"

Glancing out a nearby window, Alice noticed there was not a breeze stirring. "I'm sorry, Tripper," she said, "The wind is not blowing today. The kite won't fly."

The determined 10-year-old replied. "I think it's windy enough. I can get it to fly," he answered, as he hurried out the back door.

She peeked through the slats in the Venetian blinds to watch determination in action. Up and down the yard he ran, pulling the kite attached to a small length of string. The plastic kite, proudly displaying a picture of Batman, remained about shoulder level. He ran back and forth, as hard as his ten-year-old legs would carry him, looking back hopefully at the kite trailing behind.

After about ten minutes of unsuccessful determination, he came back in. Alice asked, "How did it go?"

"Fine," he said, not wanting to admit defeat. "I got it to fly some."

As he walked past her to return the kite to the closet shelf, she heard him say under his breath, "I guess I'll have to wait for the wind."

At that moment, she says, she heard another Voice speak to her heart. "Alice," the voice said, "sometimes you are just like that. You want to do it your way instead of waiting for the 'Wind'—the 'Wind of God.'"

In Acts 1:4-8, before his ascension into heaven Jesus instructed his disciples to wait in Jerusalem until the Holy Spirit came upon them. The biblical word for Spirit, as you know, is the same word for wind. The disciples were waiting for the wind—the wind of God. In Acts 2 we read, "When the day of Pentecost came, they were all together in one place. Suddenly a sound like the blowing of a violent wind came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting. They saw what seemed to be tongues of fire that separated and came to rest on each of them. All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them."

They waited on the wind . . . they waited on the Spirit . . . and a mighty wind it was . . . it blew so hard that the world has never again been the same.
