Congratulations!

Congratulations to the members of our parish family who were confirmed by Bishop Edward Rice here at Immaculate Conception on August 14. May the outpouring of the Holy Spirit fill you with an abundance of spiritual gifts, now and always!

A NOTE FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

The start of the new school year in this time of the pandemic is a special time that will be filled with many challenges and excitement as we continue the road ahead. There is so much to learn and experience and we should thank God for these many blessings of growth and discovery. At the outset of this new academic year, it is my prayer that God may watch over our students, parents, teachers, and administrators and grant us all the grace of wisdom, understanding, patience, and abundant charity throughout this new school year

Here, at Immaculate Conception School we aim to provide a quality education with its necessary grounding in our Catholic identity. From the moment our students enter the building they are surrounded by reminders of God's love. Spiritual signs in every classroom continuously remind teachers and students of the importance of our faith. Each day begins and ends with prayer. Our Catholic identity permeates every class and subject throughout the school day. We wish to do all we can to impart, through words and actions, the values, and teachings of our faith.

As a pastor, our school is an extremely important part of my ministry, as it is for Fr. Belken as well. Interacting with our students and teaching them about our beloved Catholic faith is one of the great joys of our priesthood! In addition to celebrating Mass with our students, we enjoy eating lunch with them, visiting classes, and attending their sporting events and field trips when our schedules allow.

I want to take this opportunity to also remind you all that all of us—priests, administrators, faculty, staff, parents, grandparents, friends, and benefactors—are encouraged by our faith in Jesus to make Immaculate Conception School the best place for our children to learn. May our actions reflect kindness and a generous spirit, may our words express affection and encouragement, and our thoughts radiate concern and compassion for each other. Let us strive to shine for all to see.

Catholic school has always played a special part in the mission of the Church. Of the educational programs within Catholic community, Catholic schools afford the fullest and best opportunity to realize the threefold purpose of Christian education (faith, community, and service) among children and young people. We continue our commitment of offering a higher standard of learning and, together, we are making Immaculate Conception School an exceptional choice for Catholic Education.

I encourage all of you to support our Immaculate Conception School Community and encourage you to take an active role in their academic and spiritual formation. There are many opportunities to engage and connect with our school, and everyone's gifts are needed to make this year successful. Go Irish!!

God bless you and remain blessed!! -Father Shoby
